

ABOUT KOREAN AIR

Korean Air, is both the flag carrier flag and the largest airline of South Korea, with global headquarters located in Seoul, South Korea. Korean Air's international passenger division and related subsidiary cargo division together serve 112 cities in 39 countries, while its domestic division serves 13 destinations. It is among the top 20 airlines in the world in terms of passengers carried and is also the top-ranked international cargo airline. Incheon International Airport serves as Korean Air's international hub. Korean Air also maintains a satellite headquarters campus at Incheon.

Korean Air's Vision is to be a Respected Leader in the World Airline Community. The Mission of the airline is summed up with its "Excellence in Flight " concept which encompasses Operational, Service, and Innovative Excellence.

Korean Air's main global headquarters campus, the Korean Air Operations Center is located in Gonghang-dong, Gangseo-gu in Seoul. Korean Air also maintains a domestic office campus at Gimpo International Airport in Seoul. Korean Air's lesser domestic hubs are based at Jeju International Airport, Jeju and Gimhae International Airport, Busan. The maintenance facilities are located in Gimhae International Airport.

Skytrax rates Korean Air as a four-star (out of five) airline. Korean Air offers one of the broadest selections of Asian routes departing from North America. Korean Air is a founding partner airline of SkyTeam, the world's second largest airline alliance.
